

ABSTRACT

Capillary electrophoresis systems, reagents, and processes for analyzing a sample which includes at least one protein constituent. The processes involve introducing the sample into a capillary tube containing a buffer system, wherein said buffer system includes at least one additive having an hydrophobic interaction with said at least one protein constituent and providing said at least one protein constituent with at least one negative charge thereby modifying the electrophoretic mobility

348843_1.DOC

10/25/93 04:30